

Amtrak-Served Stations Listed on the National Register of Historic Places

As part of the research for our station histories, we have noted stations that are listed on the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP). A station may be individually listed or included as a Contributing Resource in a National Register Historic District (marked HD in the table below). To the best of our knowledge, 114 stations are individually listed on the NRHP while 63 are Contributing Resources to historic districts; thus, approximately 34 percent of the stations served by Amtrak are included on the NRHP.

Note

At some stations, Amtrak uses only the platform and a small shelter rather than the depot. For our purposes, such a station is counted as historic because if any work is done in the station area (platform, parking, ADA upgrades), the builder would have to take into account how that work might impact historic elements. Listing on the NRHP also affects how federal funds can be used to rehabilitate or preserve a depot since the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966 directs federal agencies to consider how their actions impact historic properties. In addition to listing on the National Register, a depot may also be historically designated at state and local levels. For more information about the differences between these categories of historic designation, see Protecting and Promoting Rail Stations Through Historic Designation Programs.

Key

*Also a National Historic Landmark. According to the National Park Service, “National Historic Landmarks are nationally significant historic places designated by the Secretary of the Interior because they possess exceptional value or quality in illustrating or interpreting the heritage of the United States.”

Key to Other Uses in addition to Amtrak service:

Other Uses		Transportation and Transit Services
cc	chamber of commerce	cr	commuter rail
com	community uses (meeting rooms, rentals)	ipb	intercity passenger bus
cmrc	commercial	lr	lightrail
cvb	convention & visitors bureau	lrb	local/regional bus (fixed route)
fs	food service (snacks, coffee bars, restaurants)	sub	subway
gov	government uses
hred	historic rail equipment display
ht	hotel
mus	museum
rro	railroad offices (Amtrak and non-Amtrak)
vc	visitors center

For the purposes of this table, we consider a station to be served by transit if the service stops within at least one block of the station. Please note that Amtrak and local transit schedules do not necessarily correspond—check with the service provider for further schedule information.

Historic Stations and their Architects

Many stations that are listed on the National Register of Historic Places were designed by the leading architects and firms of the day. The list below highlights some of these master architects along with the NRHP-listed stations they designed that are today served by Amtrak.
